Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Temple and the Throne If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do? Psalm si o. This question was uttered in despair, but answered in hope. David had been chased like a hunted deer among the mountains of Judah. The bands of Saul pursued him to the cliffs, which only the wild goats could scale. Sometimes, for days together, he concealed himself and his few followers in a cave, sometimes in the humble dwellings of friends, or in the court of a neighboring king. During the transition from one retreat to another perhaps, at a period when he least feared his enemy, or was most exposed his friends urged him to save his own life and theirs, by flight to the rocks and solitudes which had sheltered them before. They said to him Flee as a bird to your mountain, for tJie wicked hend their how; theij make ready their arroio upon the string, that they may privily shoot at the upright in heart. If the foundations he destroyed, what can the righteous do? There is nothing left to us but flight and concealment. The king is mad with envy, and ready to destroy us. Doeg has well nigh crushed the priesthood, and closed the doors of the temple. Principles, which ought to be the basis of all right rule and healthful legislation, are rejected. The foundations of the kingdom are giving way. Let us fly while the hour lingers; what else ca7i we do? The reply is: In the Lord put I my trust. The Lord is in his holy temple. The Lords throne is in heaven. About the Publisher Forgotten Books...
